DETAILED ACTION

Allowable Subject Matter

1. Claims 1-22 are allowed.
2. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
 - 2.1 The rejection of claims 3 and 21 under 35 U.S.C. §112, has been overcome by Applicant's amendment of the instant claims.
 - 2.2 Referring to claims 1- 6, 21 and 22 Miller discloses a computer security key (see abstract). Miller teaches a computer security key provides security to a computer, which includes a computer bus. The computer is programmed to function with the security key. The security key includes a connector that is adapted to be coupled to the computer bus, a controller coupled to the connector, and a storage device coupled to the controller. The connector must be coupled to the computer bus for the computer to be operational. In addition, a unique key code is stored in the security key and the computer. The key code stored in the security key must match the key code stored in the computer for the computer to be operational. Further, an encrypted password is stored in the security key. A password is entered into the computer and sent to the security key where it is encrypted by the security key. The encrypted password stored in the security key must match the encrypted password entered into the computer for the computer to be operational (see abstract and Fig. 2).

While Miller teaches that the key code received from the key 40 is compared to the key code stored, he does not explicitly teach that computer settings comprising a detect enable bit.

2.3 Referring to the instant claims Kou, discloses an apparatus and method for detecting and updating status of removable storage system using shared interrupt (see abstract and Figs. 1A – 1B). Kou teaches a system and method for detecting the removal of a removable storage medium from a removable storage media mechanism of a computer environment having set protocols and for obtaining parameter information of a newly inserted removable storage medium in an efficient and flexible manner. Specifically, embodiments of the present invention contemplate that parameter information is obtained only subsequent to detection of the removal of a removable storage medium (see abstract). Kou teaches that the IRQ bit of detection register 622 is set and the IRQ 14 generator 614 is induced to generate hardware interrupt IRQ 14 (see Figs. 6 and 9A).

Kou, however does not teach the use of “detect enable bit” and “history bit”. Kou simply teaches the use of control signal having alternating bit values, but does not teach comparison of the detect enable bit with the history bit. Therefore, the combination of Miller and Kou does not render the instant claims obvious.

2.4 Referring to the claims 7-20, the combination of Miller and Kou with Isaacman does not render the claims obvious for the same reasons.

3. In view of the reasons presented herein, claims 1-22 are in condition for allowance.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably
